

Civil War and Military Mutiny Now Grave Threat to Germany

Fuehrer Admits Revolt

High Officers in Army Purged After Attempt To Assassinate Hitler

SOLDIERS QUIT FIGHT ON RUSSIAN FRONT

Gestapo Given Free Hand To Impose Terror Reign To Curb Uprisings

LONDON, July 21.—(P)—Two German divisions were reported today to have revolted in Russian-occupied East-Prussia and a full-blown purge of generals apparently was proceeding in Germany as an aftermath to what Adolf Hitler called a traitorous attempt to assassinate him and pave the way for surrender.

With broken communications masking what perhaps was civil war and mutiny within the Reich, the Berlin radio announced that Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, former chief of the German general staff was "no longer among living persons." He presumably was shot in the fiery vengeance Hitler was venting upon his own people.

At the same time a traveler reaching Sweden said two German divisions revolted in East Prussia Wednesday, apparently touching off the movement which culminated in the attack on Hitler, declared by Berlin to have occurred Thursday.

Peace Revolt Scanned Besides Beck, Berlin announced execution of a whole group of conspirators linked with the plot to overthrow the Fuehrer and prepare the path for peace in the defeat-riddled and bomb-tortured Reich.

Among them was the colonel who was alleged to have planted a bomb which exploded only a little over six feet from Hitler while he was surrounded by his highest personal military aides. Deputy Press Chief Sunderman declared in connection with Beck's demise that there was "proof that a connection was established with an enemy power," Berlin broadcasts said.

Beck was removed as chief of the general staff in November 1938 because, Berlin dispatches stated at the time, "he failed to see eye to eye with Hitler."

He was reported to have disagreed with the Fuehrer's plans to seize Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt was removed as commander of an army group at the same time. Von Rundstedt, restored to favor in the war, was removed from his command in western Europe only a few days ago.

No News Let Out Stockholm newspapers were cut off from their Berlin correspondents at 8:40 P. M. last night, and communications still were blocked today. Other sources of neutral information from inside Germany likewise were blocked.

The world therefore was restricted largely to the view put forth by Berlin and other German-controlled broadcasts.

While these sought to give the picture of a completely normal Germany, with the plot scotched, other bits of information indicated the revolt still was on.

Allied propagandists bombarded the Reich with broadcasts urging the Germans to deal the death blow to the Hitler regime.

London quarters said there now was convincing evidence to support recent rumors of increasing dissatisfaction with Hitler's autocracy.

DAYTON, July 21.—(P)—The name of Capt. Don Gentile, Piqua flying ace "has been mentioned" in an investigation of reported low flying over Columbus last week, the army air force's materiel command at Wright Field disclosed yesterday.

A statement, released by the field's Press Relations Office said: "It is true that the name of Captain Gentile has been mentioned but the investigation had not been completed nor has it been determined that any materiel command pilot actually is involved."

"In fact, Captain Gentile, on the basis of rumors of such allegations, has requested that the matter be thoroughly investigated."

In May Gentile returned to this country on furlough from the European theater, and on June 20 was assigned to the materiel command.

Wallace Has Edge In Democrat Race

Roosevelt, Nominated for Fourth Term as President, Says He Will Not Have Time for Intensive Campaign—Platform Based on Policies and Record of Administration

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO STADIUM, July 21.—(P)—Vice President Henry A. Wallace gained strength today, with Senator Harry Truman fighting to overhaul him, as their battle for the Democratic vice presidential nomination headed toward a decision on the National Convention floor.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climactic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio split wide—giving three votes to Paul V. McNutt, two to Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, two to Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and one to Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma.

The other Ohio votes were uncommitted. Still enthusiastic about President Roosevelt's fourth-term acceptance speech, brought to the convention by radio last night, the delegates poured into the stadium early for the second-place showdown.

"We're gaining all the time, they can't stop us now," declared Sen. Joseph Guffey, a Wallace partisan.

Truman's friends remained outwardly confident, but a conference of leaders during the early morning hours was reported to have developed some doubt that the big-city organizations could deliver for him the vote they had expected.

There were reports that if they found Truman could not make the grade, they might shift swiftly to either Senator Barkley or to Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois.

"Don't pay any attention to any rumors we are losing ground," said one of Truman's lieutenants. "This convention is filled with rumors. It's just like a county election."

Running a close second in delegate interest to the bitter vice presidential battle was the "Texas furor," which at one point saw many of the Lone Star delegates stalk out of the convention in protest for rebuffs on states' rights and racial issues.

These Texans called a meeting of dissident southerners generally to discuss further steps in their revolt against the New Deal.

Renominated noisily and overwhelmingly by a packed convention that booted the mention of opposing candidates, the president told his Democratic followers and the world at large by radio last night that he will not run for office in the usual political sense.

"In these days of tragic sorrow, I do not consider it fitting," the president accepted.

SILENT SCREEN STAR DIES IN OBSCURITY

Mildred Harris Was Bit Player Where Once She Reigned

HOLLYWOOD, July 21.—(P)—Death in comparative obscurity has taken Mildred Harris, one of the silent screen's most beautiful and highly-paid actresses and a link with the opulent Hollywood of the gold doorknob and expansive swimming pool era.

Miss Harris, 41, a native of Cheyenne, Wyo., died yesterday of complications following an abdominal operation. She had so far faded from the public eye that few knew she had resumed her screen career about five years ago and had been steadily employed as a bit player, where once she was a reigning star adored by millions.

Miss Harris was the first wife of comedian Charles Chaplin. She bore Chaplin one child, who died shortly after birth and whose grave is marked by a simple stone bearing the single word, "Mousie."

LT. TOM HARMON TO WED MOVIE ACTRESS

Ceremony Set for August 26 In Ann Arbor, Mich.

DETROIT, July 21.—(P)—The Michigan Catholic, official publication of the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit, said today in a copy-righted story that Lt. Tom Harmon of the Army Air Forces and movie actress Elyse Knox will be married August 26 in Ann Arbor.

The church paper said the ceremony uniting the former University of Michigan All-American football player and the Hollywood actress will be performed in St. Mary's student chapel with the Rev. Fr. Frank J. McPhillips celebrating nuptial high mass.

Miss Knox was divorced March 25, 1943, from her first husband, Paul Heese, 46, a photographer. She is 26. This will be Harmon's first marriage. He is 24.

BIG RED ATTACK SURGES TOWARD POLAND CAPITAL

Yanks Mop Up Germans in Path in Italy as Bombers Smash Germany Again

With a military revolt tearing at the vitals of the Nazi regime, Hitler also had outside worries as the Red army of Russia drove inexorably toward the borders of Germany from the east, the Allied forces battered their way slowly northward through Italy toward the back door of his European fortress from the south and swarms of American warplanes deluged the Fatherland from above.

MOSCOW, July 21.—(P)—The Red army seized a deadly strategic hold on the Germans' Baltic front deep inside Lithuania today, hurled a massive blow toward Poland's martyred capital of Warsaw and sealed the fate of the Nazi stronghold of Lwow.

Pouring across the trans-Lithuanian Railway, Soviet forces captured the junction of Skopishki, 50 miles west of Daugavpils (Dvinsky), 85 miles southeast of the Latvian port of Riga and 165 miles east of Memel.

Warsaw, a little more than 100 miles from the Red army vanguard was the objective of concerted attacks west of the Nazis' broken Buk River line defenses.

The Nazi garrison at Lwow was doomed, with the Russians five miles away in the suburb of Doroshew. It faced the same kind of disaster that overtook more than four German divisions encircled earlier in the week at Brody, 55 miles northeast, where they now are being annihilated.

The luckless garrison's resistance failed to check the pace of the first Ukrainian front offensive, which engulfed the rail junction of Rawa Ruska, 30 miles northwest of Lwow, and over 300 settlements.

For 60 miles along the Bug River from captured Opalin to Sokal the Red army scored new gains.

AAA IS LABELLED SAVIOR OF FARMING

Democrats Willing To Try New Program, However

CHICAGO, July 21.—(P)—The Democratic party gave the New Deal's AAA crop control program credit for saving agriculture from the last depression today but expressed willingness to toss that program overboard for a better one after the war, if necessary.

In a platform appeal for farmer support at coming elections, the Democrats promised to enact such additional farm legislation as time and experience may require, and to amend or repeal any existing law which has failed to accomplish its purpose.

The AAA has been a controversial issue for several years. The Republican convention went far, however, in removing it from the campaign by writing into its platform an endorsement of crop adjustment as an emergency or last-resort method of handling surpluses.

The Democrats held to the original goal of the AAA—a promise to place and keep agriculture on an "income parity" with industry and labor.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 21.—(P)—British and Canadian infantry, taking over from armored forces the burden of the attack in the Caen offensive, expanded the deepest shaft of the advance eight miles from their original jump-off spots today and widened the shallowest points to five miles.

The deepest penetration of the German defenses took place directly east of Caen, where British Tommies by-passing Troarn to the north drove to within 1,000 yards of the village of Bures on the Dives River eight miles from Caen. The enemy has flooded the river to block the coastal route to the great port of Le Havre.

It was apparent that Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's advance, while making gains, had failed to bring the main German army to battle.

Chennault Says Japanese Strategy Is Poor

HEADQUARTERS FOURTEENTH AIR FORCE IN CHINA, July 20.—(Delayed)—(P)—Major General Claire L. Chennault said today that if Germany is beaten this year the defeat of Japan will come within six months thereafter.

The commander of the Fourteenth Air Force declared in an interview that the Japanese drive to seal off an inner defense zone in China by conquest of all the Hankow-Canton line actually would shorten the war because of its suicidal aspects.

"For many years," he said, "it has been my opinion that Japanese tactics are outstanding and their strategy very poor."

'INDISCRIMINATE' IS TERM FOR BUZZERS

Will Harden Mood in Dealing With Nazis, Minister Says

LONDON, July 21.—(P)—Salvos of flying bombs exploded in London and South England today and Home Security Minister Herbert Morrison urged mothers to evacuate the capital and other danger zones.

Morrison added "it is one thing to endure a bombing attack when you know you are in the last ditch, as we were in 1940. It is another thing when you have this kind of cruel, utterly indiscriminate and vexatious onslaught at a time when it cannot possibly affect the issue of the war and can have no result but to create senseless damage and suffering—and of course to harden the mood of the people for their dealings with Germany after the war."

LANDINGS MADE UNDER BARRAGE BY SEA AND AIR

Assault Troops Pour Ashore After Island Stolen by Japs Blasted for 17 Days

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, July 21.—(P)—United States Marines and infantry are pouring ashore on Guam, first American territory seized by the Japanese, and fighting their way inland under cover of a pulverizing aerial and warship bombardment, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

The landings, a quick follow-up to the great victory on Saipan, started yesterday morning, and "are continuing against moderate ground opposition," Nimitz's communique said.

"United States Marines and Army assault troops established beachheads on Guam Island on July 20 (west longitude—U. S. time) with the support of carrier aircraft and surface combat units of the Fifth Fleet," the early-morning communique continued. "Enemy defenses are being heavily bombed and shelled at close range."

Guam is the southernmost and largest of the Marianas group of islands. In American hands it will greatly strengthen Saipan's position as a base from which Japan can be mortally assaulted. Guam is 130 miles southwest of Saipan and both islands are within easy Superfortress range of Tokyo and the whole of Japan.

The Philippines, lying some 1,500 miles west of Guam and Saipan, likewise are vulnerable to the mighty forces Nimitz is hurling across the Pacific.

Landings Follow Attacks

The Guam landings came after 17 days of the most terrific warship-plane blasting given any invaded Pacific island, with battleships adding their heavy shells to the torrent of explosives poured from cruisers, destroyers and planes.

Guam, seized December 10, 1941—two days after Pearl Harbor (December 8, east longitude time)—presumably will offer the same bitter, bloody resistance the Marines and Army troops encountered on Saipan in 25 days of fighting. It was believed the Guam

DEWEY WILL GET DOPE ON RUSSIA

Recent Visitor To Soviet To Confer With Him

ALBANY, N. Y., July 21.—(P)—First hand information on conditions and thought in wartime Russia becomes available to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today through the visit of Eric A. Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Johnston, who comes to Albany for an afternoon conference with the Republican presidential nominee, returned recently from Moscow where he engaged in a series of conversations with Russia's premier, Joseph Stalin.

It also was expected his talk with Dewey would touch upon reconversion of industry from a wartime to a peacetime basis, a subject of interest to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and one which the governor indicated this week would be a major Republican issue in the presidential campaign.

GALLON OF GAS FOR EACH DAY OF ALL FURLOUGHS

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(P)—A member of the armed forces after next Tuesday can get a gallon of gas for every day of his furlough from three to 30 days long, the Office of Price Administration ruled today.

No ration is to be granted for leaves or furloughs of less than three days.

POMONA GRANGE WILL MEET WITH FAYETTE GROUP

Fayette Grange Gives Money To Sugar Creek Baptist Church

Fayette Grange will be host at the Pomona Grange meeting scheduled August 10, it was announced at the Fayette Grange meeting Wednesday night.

Plans for a cooperative initiation of a class of candidates with Madison Good Will Grange were tentatively laid out. In October, Fayette Grange will go to Madison to give the first and second degrees to the candidates. In November, Madison will travel to Fayette to complete the degree work.

A letter to two former Grange officers now in service, was started. Sgt. Charles Fults is in Georgia and Sgt. Harry Campbell is in England.

A donation to Sugar Creek Baptist Church was voted at the Grange. The Grange picnic, memorial service and rural life Sunday have all been held at the Sugar Creek Church.

Mrs. Tom Graves read "Our Flag" during the lecture hour. Nancy Hewitt played two piano solos and Roy Coil reviewed a book about forestry in Ohio. Mrs. Darrell Weinrich, lecturer, gave a resume of the life of Stephen Foster up to the time he wrote "Old Black Joe." Then Miss Joan Wilson sang the song with piano accompaniment by Miss Jane Fults.

Announcement was made of the State Highway Essay contest on the subject "The Necessity of Good Roads For Farmers." Mrs. Charles Fults was chairman of the refreshment committee.

garrison was as strong as Saipan, which consisted of more than 20,000 troops on D-Day, June 14. The Americans had to kill 95 percent of that force before gaining victory.

A fleet spokesman said: "All landings were effected in all areas as programmed." This suggested the landings were not as difficult as at Saipan, where many Marines died on the reef-top beaches.

But in the interior the Americans will encounter the same hills, caves and crevices which gave Saipan's defenders a tremendous edge over the attackers.

Guam, 32 miles long and four to 10 miles wide, was overrun by 8,000 Japanese troops who stormed ashore against 200 Marines in the early days of the war.

The island has one of the Pacific's finest harbors, Apra, and formerly served as a way-station on the trans-Pacific air route to the east.

Record Bombardment

The steady, daily bombardment which established a record tonnage, apparently knocked out many Japanese shore defenses and drove the enemy from the beaches.

Admiral Nimitz earlier reported "widespread and heavy damage had been done as a result of coordinated aerial bombing and shelling by surface ships."

The number of ground forces landed was not reported, but it is reasonable to assume the oper-

Coe appeared at police headquarters, in a badly intoxicated state, police said, to obtain release of Snyder.

president's voice rolled out over the loud speakers.

"Besides," the familiar voice continued, "in these days of global warfare I shall not be able to find time. I shall, however, feel free to report to the people the facts about matters of concern to them and especially to correct any misrepresentations."

In his acceptance, which was broadcast from "a Pacific naval base," Mr. Roosevelt predicted that another four years will find the world at permanent peace, adding:

"New hands will then have full opportunity to realize the ideals which we seek." Some of his listeners recalled that during his third term campaign Mr. Roosevelt remarked that there would be a new president at the end of this term.

American entry into a post-war organization with military power to keep the peace was envisioned by Mr. Roosevelt, as well as a domestic economy which would provide employment and decent standards of living for all Americans.

Experience Cited

Between himself and Republican Thomas E. Dewey (to whom he did not refer personally) the president said the issue this time is simply:

Whether the nation will "turn over this 1944 job—this world-wide job—to inexperienced and immature hands, to those who opposed lend-lease and international cooperation against the forces of aggression and tyranny until they could read the polls of popular sentiment . . . or whether they wish to leave it to those who saw the danger . . . who met it head-on."

The voters, too, will determine, he said, whether they will turn over the postwar tasks "to those who offered the veterans of the last war breadlines and apple-selling."

Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas, wife of the actor and a candidate for Congress from California, along with war correspondent Quentin Reynolds kept the capacity house interested while waiting for the president's acceptance speech. Mrs. Douglas told the delegates Mr. Roosevelt has established the Democratic party as "the best friend the Republican rank and file voter has ever had."

Reynolds declared the men on the battlefields know a miracle has been performed "under the leadership of their commander-in-chief."

Platform Adopted

The convention washed up most of its controversies yesterday, adopting a platform which paralleled the president's declaration on foreign policy but contained a disputed plank declaring "racial and religious minorities have the right to live, develop and vote equally with all citizens."

Some southerners didn't like this and a part of the turbulent Texas delegation walked out. But even there, the sentiment for President Roosevelt's renomination was so strong several remained.

The convention made short work of the anti-fourth term movement, giving Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia only 89 votes, with a single recorded for James A. Farley, who once was Mr. Roosevelt's No. 1 political strategist.

Farley was silent about this result but told reporters he intends to support Barkley for the vice presidential nomination.

The Democratic party wooed the 1944 electorate with a platform calling for a fourth term based on President Roosevelt's record "in peace and in war" and a promise to seek military backing to prevent another blood bath of conflict.

The road ahead was paved with party dissension over the racial issue—sparkplug of a vain but bitter southern revolt unallayed by a plank ignoring definite commitments sought by advocates and opponents of the "white supremacy" status quo.

"The Democratic party stands on its record in peace and in war," said a declaration bearing the approval of the quadrennial convention. "To speed victory, establish and maintain peace, guarantee full employment and provide prosperity—this is its platform."

Asserting its 1,500-word statement of principles and promises does not detail scores of planks, but instead cites "action," the party's short, short story portrayed its four-time candidate as "the champion of human liberty and dignity."

"That God may keep him strong in body and in spirit to carry on his yet unfinished work is our hope and prayer," it said.

In a 40-word "racial plank" stripped alike of states rights proposals and demands for endorsement of anti-discrimination, anti-poll tax and anti-lynching legislation, the party declared:

"We believe that racial and religious minorities have the right to live, develop and vote equally with all citizens and share the rights that are guaranteed by our constitution. Congress should exert its full constitutional power to protect those rights."

Vice President Henry A. Wallace, already the target of southern delegations anxious to send him back to his Iowa farm, declared "in a political, educational and economic sense there must be no inferior races."

Seconding President Roosevelt's nomination, Wallace told the convention, "Equal educational opportunities must come, and 'the poll tax must go.'"

There was every outward sign, however, of unanimity over the foreign plank pledging affiliation with other United Nations in an organization to maintain peace and prevent aggression by using armed forces "when necessary."

REDS DRIVE ON WARSAW AS YANKS MOP UP ITALY AND BOMB GERMANY AGAIN

Varna and Burgas, a traveler from eastern Bulgaria said today, adding that during the past week he had seen train loads of German troops moving westward from the vicinity of both ports.

German evacuation of these ports was believed to be one of the Russian demands for continued Soviet-Bulgarian diplomatic relations.

Acutely endangered by the Soviet advances were the German fortresses of Brest Litovsk and Lublin, on the eastward approaches to Warsaw. Nazi rear-guards in the railroad town of Korbe Kobryn, 27 miles northeast of Brest Litovsk, have been liquidated, and at other points Red army troops are about 10 miles away, front dispatches said.

Soviet columns were within 50 miles of Lublin, which is about 75 miles southwest of Brest Litovsk.

(The German radio said Russian troops had reached Augustow in the northern sector, only a two-hour march from East Prussia.)

Marshal Stalin apparently crossed up the Nazi high command by unleashing the drive west of Krowp toward Warsaw after his troops had forced the Nazis to transfer numerous divisions to the Niemen River sector for the anticipated all-out attack on East Prussia.

The new blows have shoved the front between Lwow and Brest Litovsk another 30 to 40 miles nearer Warsaw and Germany itself.

BATTLE OF ITALY

ROME, July 21.—(P)—Big German guns in the hills behind Pisa lobbed a harassing fire into the stricken city of Livorno today while Fifth army patrols probed into enemy defense lines north of the Arno River for the first time.

Allied headquarters announced American units still were finding and exterminating pockets of enemy resistance on the south side of the river yesterday, described as one of the quietest days experienced by the Fifth army since the offensive began May 11.

The enemy was reported in strong outposts positions on the north side of the Arno, but at the eastern end of the Italian front the Germans continued to flee before the avenging poles.

The Poles crossed the Esino River on a 15-mile-wide front in the Adriatic sector, and reached Montemarcano, six miles beyond the stream and 15 miles northwest of Ancona. The Italians on their left pushed on from Iesi.

Progress was less rapid on the inland portions of the front, but Eighth army units began encircling enemy-held Citta Di Castello, 13 airline miles northwest of Umbertide.

Allied Engineers found 16 ships sunk in the north and south approaches of Livorno harbor. Quays were demolished, cranes wrecked, warehouses destroyed and bridge approaches knocked out.

BOMBS HIT GERMANY

LONDON, July 21.—(P)—An American fleet of nearly 2,000 planes flew above a howling Channel northeast today and attacked Germany for the fourth consecutive day, striking Regensburg, Schweinfurt and a number of other targets.

More than 1,100 heavy bombers and around 1,000 fighters formed the attack armada.

The Germans reported simultaneous raids by another big American fleet from Italy, duplicating the coordinated assaults from west and south of previous three days.

During the equally night, a force of around 1,000 RAF heavy bombers pummeled objectives in Germany, France and Belgium, losing 31 planes. The major railroads of Courtrai bottlenecking three trunk lines leading to the Normandy battlefields were targets, along with the German oil plants at Homeberg and Bottrop-Wilhelm in the Ruhr, the port of Hamburg, robot bomb platforms in northern France and road convoys north and south of Paris. Italy-based planes struck around the River Po and in Yugoslavia.

An airplane plant was bombed at Regensburg in southeast Germany, 50 miles north of Munich. The much bombed ball-bearing works of Schweinfurt, in the southwest Reich 475 miles from British bases, were worked over again.

On the Normandy battlefield night-flying Mosquitos attacked highway convoys north of Paris and a Seine crossing south of Paris.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

There can be no doubt that the attempt on Hitler's life has signalled a rebellion of dangerous size against his regime, despite his claim that only a "small clique" of officers are involved.

The gravity of the situation is made startlingly clear by the dictator's move in conferring the powers of life and death on Gestapo Chief Himmler and setting that arch-murderer to work in another bloody purge. It is emphasized by the panicky appeals which Marshal Goering and others of the Fuehrer's captains have made to the army and navy to remain loyal.

Hitler says that the coup was aimed at paying the way for the surrender of Germany. That likely is true, but it still leaves much mystery surrounding the attempted assassination of the man who, evil as he is, has exercised one of the most powerful leaderships in history.

Hitler's leadership, especially over the younger generation of fanatical Nazis whom he himself created, has remained strong. Many literally have regarded him as a Messiah.

Why then should any of his own people want to assassinate him? Well, there are a dozen good reasons. He has had his awful blood purges, and massacres and he has used his power of life and death ruthlessly to enforce his orders. However, we seem to be dealing with a revolt among the armed services, and we have a logical explanation in the remarkable declaration a couple of days ago by Nazi General Edmund Hoffmeister to his Russian captors.

The general asserted in bitter terms that Hitler is responsible for the German disaster in the eastern theater because of insistence, against the judgment of the high command, on clinging to positions to the death regardless of mountainous casualties. So it seems that the mad-dog of Berchtesgaden finally bit himself.

The genesis of Hitler's obsession is this: When the Red armies finally blocked the Nazi invasion deep within Russian territory he adopted the apparently sound strategy of fighting a delaying action—swapping his abundant captured territory for time which might produce a turn of fortune in his favor.

At the outset this worked. But Soviet striking power multiplied amazingly, and German strength decreased, until by the beginning of this year Hitler no longer had the reserves or resources with which to pursue the scheme of delay. However, he declined to scrap it, despite the advice of his senior generals. For months he's been making colossal sacrifices of life in a wild effort to hold positions which he should have abandoned to shorten his front.

As a result we now find the dictator desperately fighting with back to wall to defend the very inner shields of the Fatherland itself. Thus there's nothing strange then in the idea that infuriated officers have tried to remove the man who is carrying the Fatherland down to ruin.

ADDED FEATURE NOW ARRANGED FOR JAMBOREE

WLW Tenor To Come Here For Show Opening Night Fair Next Tuesday

A special added attraction has been arranged at the last minute for the Boone County Jamboree, which opens the Night Fair here next Tuesday, Frank E. Ellis, Fair secretary, revealed after receiving a letter from the Jamboree offices at WLW in Cincinnati.

Max Condon, a WLW artist, he said, would appear on the show, to be given on the specially built stage in the race track in front of the grandstand, along with the full Jamboree cast.

Thanks to the urging of his

wife, Condon studied singing, and that her faith was justified is now being amply evidenced. For Condon is one of the featured vocalists on Station WLW.

He was holding down a job in his home town, Kansas City, Mo., when he succumbed to his wife's pleadings, and began the development of his naturally fine tenor voice. After that, things happened fast.

In order to gain experience, Condon, a year or so later, went on a singing tour through the southwest, and was in Arkansas, when he heard that the Cincinnati Summer Opera was to stage a series of talent auditions.

"I didn't think I'd have a chance," Condon recalled, "but the gamble was so worthwhile that I entered. And much to my surprise—but not my wife's—I won."

This was in 1941, and Condon sang that season at the famed Zoo Opera, and then went on to New York City for further study, solo appearances at the Radio City Music Hall, with Sonja Henie's Ice Show and in opera, musical comedies and radio.

Next to singing, Condon most enjoys tennis and golf, and that the six foot, two inch blonde is a quite proficient athlete is indicated by his winning of the city golf championship in Kansas City in 1936. And he's still a near-par player on any course.

But his top ambition now is to still further develop his voice for opera and the concert stage—not forgetting that choice niche in radio which is reserved for the chosen few. The road is long and arduous, but Condon is well on his way!

JUST A FRIENDLY CHAT
As we trod down life's highway hand in hand with Father Time, there seems to be an unrest in the hearts of men everywhere. The whole world is confused and many have lost the meaning and purpose of life. What is the cause of this? It is natural to blame it onto the war, but this world revolution is the effect rather than the cause of man's spiritual deficiency. The chief cause of this world's distress is the fact that many have lost the sense of a personal God. All wars, including the present one, have been caused through the wickedness of the people. This world was destroyed through the wickedness of the people and it will be destroyed again due to this same cause. What humanity needs is a centralizing influence—something around which life can be organized and that will fortify this complex and intricate civilization with spiritual values. Where can this be found? God's answer to every arising spiritual need is Christ. His redemptive sacrifice is the way. His teaching is the divine message. His life is the example for men to follow. Jesus is God's provision for the salvation of man from error, sin and death. And unless the people turn from the sinful ways of the world this war will never cease.

FIRST FAYETTE MAN HOME FROM BIG INVASION

Selby P. Gerstner Returns From Jaws of Death Across Channel

Fayette County's first man to return from the maelstrom of death during the allied invasion of France, is Pharmacist's Mate, Second Class, Selby P. Gerstner, who is home on 30 days leave after spending a large part of June on a boat plying between England and Normandy, taking over soldiers and supplies, and bringing back wounded American and British soldiers, as well as many German casualties.

Gerstner was a member of the hospital crew of the amphibian forces. The boats on which he saw service were subjected to enemy action the same as the remainder of the great fleet, and it fell to the lot of the hospital crew to help move the wounded from the beachhead part of the time under fire, to the disembarkation point.

There were long hard days and nights of work for the hospital crew, with large numbers of American boys critically wounded to be moved. These were handled before the walking cases and other less seriously hurt.

"The morale of the wounded men was marvelous," said Gerstner adding that America takes care of her wounded better than any other nation in the world.

"We brought over some German wounded, and for the most part they seemed very happy to be out of the war," he said. Most of the wounded German prisoners were very young men.

Gerstner is not permitted to give many of the details of the invasion, and speaks of it only in a general way, of the terrible ordeal of handling the wounded, under fire, with big shells from Allied boats shrieking overhead as the warships pounded the foe well back from the shore, and silencing many of the German guns.

IS this YOUR VICTORY GARDEN?

No—this isn't your garden! For this, too, is food waste, and that's what we're all fighting these days. Gardens like this aren't a very vital contribution to the war effort. The food that might have been grown here is desperately needed for us at home, for our fighting men, for our allies, for the poor people of liberated nations.

Don't become discouraged at a few weeds or bugs in your garden. Grub them out . . . it takes but a few minutes. Keep YOUR garden growing—for Victory!

Women and Voting

"Most women just won't become interested in politics."

Such was the statement made one day this past week by a Washington C. H. man who is in business for himself but always has taken an active interest in political matters. He is not a hide-bound partisan and does not always vote the same party ticket but he is a keen analyst and usually has sound ideas on what is going on.

He enlarged on his statement, as quoted above, by saying that the reasons why women play such a relatively small part in the running of the world, so far as politics and framing of economic policies are concerned, is because so many of them find satisfaction only in endeavors in which they can see tangible and immediate results. He further declared that if more women took the trouble to look into how their governments were being run there might be far less trouble for people as a whole in the matter of wars and depressions.

This observer went on further to say that many a housewife will work hard all day putting a house into shining order, packing away clothes, sunning mattresses—and when the day is done she will feel a deep glow of satisfaction over what she has accomplished and won't care to hear about proposed laws or actions which may vitally affect her economic future.

Or she'll work in a steaming kitchen canning, and feel the work worth while when she looks on the bright rows of colorful fruits and vegetables put aside for winter months.

But many of those same women are lazy when it comes to working with their minds and their imaginations. The idea of spending time and energy on studying the political situation so that they can intelligently make up their minds on how to vote in the coming elections has no appeal for them.

After all, they say, their vote will just be one vote—and even if the candidates they chose after hours of study and consideration should be elected it wouldn't be all their doing.

So they either drift along until election day, picking up a smattering of information, much of it pure gossip, about candidates and policies, or they vote either on the basis of skimpy information, or as their men folks tell them to. Or they decide they are too busy to bother with voting, what with the house looking a sight and Aunt Tillie coming to visit.

Well, this year they ought to have more incentive for preparing to vote intelligently. It is predicted that women will make up 60 percent of the voting public. So, if they need a tangible result in sight in order to spur them on, they can truthfully say to themselves, "We women are going to be largely responsible for the results of the coming elections, and the blame or the credit will be ours."

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON

One prediction can be made now; the next president of the United States will be that man who can make the deepest inroads on the woman and worker votes.

For the first time in a presidential election, the women undoubtedly will outvote the men. Of the nearly 89,000,000 potential voters in the country, approximately 45,000,000 are women. However, in 1942 women cast 33 per cent of the total vote in congressional elections. Cross-section polls and examination of registration records indicate that in November they may cast as much as 55 per cent.

Of these potential women voters, 16,000,000 are non-agricultural workers, and it is assumed that their interest will be as workers as well as women.

Following the election in 1940, Democratic National Chairman Ed Flynn announced flatly that it was the women of the country who elected Mr. Roosevelt to his third term. His statement was made on the basis of reports from party machines.

Public opinion polls have indicated that this trend has continued, but none of any scope has been made since Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was nominated and President Roosevelt announced his willingness to run for a fourth term.

Republicans here point out that Gov. Dewey has an exceptional radio personality, is attractive personally, is one of the best conservatively dressed men in the country; is ideally married and has the reputation of being an excellent father to his two sons.

These qualities, they feel, will carry weight with the women voters.

will weigh heavily with those who have criticized the First Lady for her multifarious activities. Mrs. Dewey is a small-town girl who, on the threshold of an apparently brilliant career as a concert and musical comedy singer, tossed it over to become a wife and mother.

What weight the wives of presidential candidates carry with women at the polls is problematical. Some politicians think it is nil; but in the case of Mrs. Roosevelt, others feel she has done much to strengthen the President's hold on some areas and among some groups, weaken it in others.

What the political parties are doing to woo the women's vote is apparent on every hand. Never before have women had such influence in the party councils. But whether they will simply split along male voting lines or give a preponderance of their votes to either Dewey or Mr. Roosevelt is one of the great November unknowns.

The Barometer Blues

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THESE ARE the days that try fat men's souls. Never underestimate what external factors are doing to your health, your feeling of well-being, your inspiration, your working ability. Maybe you are a leptosome, as the scientists say. In other words, do you have barometer blues?

In Italy when the hot sirocco wind blows over the country from the parched African mainland, the number of crimes of violence rise. And the prevalence of such weather conditions is actually used as a defense in murder trials. It temporarily "takes away the mind," so the people say.

In my native land of the middle west between the Alleghenies and the Rockies in the months of July, August and September we have a continuous sirocco set of conditions.

Reactions to Hot Weather

There are, of course, all kinds of people and some claim to like hot weather. They say they thrive on it and do their best work in the summer. Personally I can only look at them with doubt and despair. I am a cold weather man myself. I can plan work when the cold winds blow and dream that I may some day complete my great opus on diagnosis.

But from May to October in the beautiful land of Missouri it is quite a job to get me to drag myself to the supper table, let alone anything else. "Any country," as Jim Lane, of Kansas, once said, "which is good for corn is bad for human beings."

It has been supposed that the thyroid gland has something to do with these individual differences. We know that the thyroid is the energy regulator of the body. The person with an overactive thyroid is always warm, throws the bedclothes off in cold weather and perspires on New Year's Day, while the low thyroid secretor is always chilly, the extreme example being the myxoedema patient who wears flannel underwear in July.

But above such personal variations the mass of mankind reacts more or less the same to weather changes. Huntington, one of the earliest students of the subject of weather, made a study of several thousand mill operations in New England and in the Southern States and also of 1,700 students at Annapolis and West Point. His measurement of efficiency was productivity and he found that a maximum temperature of 68 F. and a minimum of 38 F. is the most favorable for the maximum effort. Above and below those points (outside temperature) production dropped. Humidity, wind movement and especially temperature changeableness from day to day were also factors.

Sensible Summer Clothing

While our comfort or discomfort in hot weather depends upon these four factors—temperature, humidity, barometric pressure and air movement—we have defense mechanisms against only one of them—temperature. But our bodies have not nearly as good cooling systems as our automobiles.

Modern ways of life have done a great deal to adjust us to the American summers. Not only the electric fan and the air cooling systems, but all our clothing and our food, and the amount of work we do. And sunstroke, once an every day occurrence in any city in the summer, is now a rarity. Our fathers and mothers used to imitate the English and wear coats and stiff collars all summer.

I am for shirts with short sleeves as de rigueur for men in summer. And I am strong for slacks and shorts and bras and bare stomachs for the girls—at dinner parties or anywhere. Let's face facts—summer is hell in the United States. Chronic diseases all flare up in the summer—tuberculosis, diabetes, heart disease. Dress light, eat light, drink light, think light. Don't try to push your poor old mind into the creation of a masterpiece. If summer's here can fall be far behind? Wait!

THE REST OF MY LIFE WITH YOU

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

Mary Norman was there, and Lynn Mortimer. Mary had lost weight, she was working very hard, but her slenderness became her, and her serene face was not drawn or haggard. In the last six months her hair had started to turn gray, in little silvery streaks. Tonight, wearing this cool green in deference to the midsummer heat, she looked very lovely. Lynn Mortimer could not take his eyes from her. But then, he rarely could.

Kate had come to serve and Nellie's buffet supper was a masterpiece. Sam contributed the champagne. Bill brought extravagant cartons of cigarettes, and everyone was very gay.

Mary sat in a deep chair after supper and watched Irene. She looked, Mary thought, wretched. How wise, Mary told herself, that I persuaded her not to try to take over the X-ray work.

Matthew had the rugs rolled back, he was dancing to radio music with Bill's plain, pleasant girl in his arms. He was warning her, "You don't know what you're getting into . . . ask Irene, she'll tell you. Girls who marry doctors are nuts."

"What about Hilda Morley?" "Oh, she's a bride," countered Matthew carelessly, "she hasn't discovered a single flaw, as yet." He looked over at Sam dancing with his little wife and at Bill, talking to Lynn Mortimer.

Later Matthew danced with his mother. She said quietly, as he guided her about the little room, "Irene's doing too much."

"She's never ill," he asserted. "I didn't mean that she was ill," "You two," he said laughing, "she fusses over you, you fuss over her. What's wrong with you women? As if you had anything to worry about, with me to look after you both."

Nevertheless when, a little later, Sam was called out on an emergency and left, taking Hilda with him, and the party broke up, Mary lingered, beckoning Irene into the bedroom, while Lynn waiting for her, talked with Matthew.

"Irene," "Yes."

"You're not well, are you?" They understood each other, these two.

Irene sat down on the edge of her bed. She looked very white as she said reluctantly, "I suppose so. It's natural enough, Mary, as I expect a baby."

"My dear!" Mary sat down beside her, and put her arm around the younger woman. "How wonderful! It's what I've hoped for of course. But Matthew?" (She thought with a quick tightening of her heart, Why didn't he tell me?) "What does he say?"

"He doesn't know. I wasn't sure myself until today. I slipped away at the lunch hour, when Matthew was making calls, and saw Dr. Lemington. You know, Matthew's old Chief of Obstetrics, mine too when I worked in the D.R."

"Well, tell him, for heaven's sake," directed Mary.

"I didn't want to upset him, he was so busy all day, so like a kid about this party; you know how he is, Mary."

"I know. He'll be delighted, of course, it's what he's wanted, and you can afford it now."

"Can we? It seems to me that we spend a good deal. Yet you're always so generous," said Irene. She looked at her mother-in-law, her blue eyes direct and troubled. "Too generous, I think. I would have liked another year in the office. Of course I can go on, for quite a while."

"That's nonsense," declared Mary firmly, "you mustn't even consider it."

"I'll be all right, but Matthew must have a competent office nurse, and that means more expense."

"But I do," she added. "Anyway, when we get someone else I'll want to be there to train her."

Mary asked, amused, "How much training goes into that, my dear? That is, if you find a nurse who can type and keep books, as you do . . . the treatments she'll be called upon to give are in line with her original training and surely she'll be able to answer a telephone, make appointments, and be pleasant to the most trying patient."

"I know," said Irene patiently, "but there's more than that." She regarded Mary soberly. "Matthew likes things just so. He's very meticulous."

"I know," agreed Matthew's mother. "If ever a man loved order and was utterly incapable of creating it, himself, you married him." She drew Irene toward her and kissed her forehead. "My dear, do tell him, tonight. He will, naturally, make you leave the office, but you mustn't be too sorry. You should know better than anyone how essential rest is for you, and for the baby. It's worth any amount of sacrifice, for us all."

Irene smiled wanly. "And as this also is Matthew's baby I suppose he'll be strong as an ox and impatient and rebellious."

"He?"

"I think so," replied Irene, flushing. Lynn, outside, raised his voice. "When are you coming Mary? I have to be in court tomorrow at, practically, the crack of dawn."

Irene followed Mary out of the room and stood saying good-bye to her and Lynn. She thought, certainly not for the first time, they should be married, these two. She didn't talk about this to Matthew nowadays. He didn't agree with her. The first time she had spoken of it, he said in amazement and with quite obvious revulsion that he couldn't imagine his mother married . . . that is to say, remarried.

Her list was perfect as it was . . . a man would be only an intruder. It would also be difficult for her to adjust herself to a different way of life. She was nearly fifty, remember, even if she didn't look it.

When the door had closed, Matthew went back into the living room and looked with concern upon the general disorder. He yelled for Nellie who came scurrying in, wiping her hands on her apron.

"How about some picking up?" he demanded. "Place looks like a cyclone had struck it."

Nellie began collecting glasses, plumping up cushions, straightening rugs and books. Irene moved to help her but Nellie said under her breath, "No, you sit down, Mrs. Norman, you don't need to do this and you know you shouldn't, just now."

Irene grew scarlet. Apparently you could keep matters from Matthew but not from Nellie. Before she could answer, Nellie chuckled, "I seen what you've been eating, and not eating."

Matthew was chewing on a dead pipe, sitting with legs stretched out in a big chair. He commented, "Heavens, it's hot!" And asked, yawning, "What are you two gossiping about?"

"Nothing," replied Irene. "I was just telling Nellie that her aspie Bill Taylor would burst."

"Naturally," said Matthew. "Nellie never fails." He smiled. "Go to bed, Nellie, you must be tired. Irene, come here. I'm too comfortable to move."

The room was tidy. Order had been restored. So Nellie went to bed.

Irene sat on the arm of her husband's chair and he pulled her down on his lap. "Well, old lady," he said contentedly, "three years. A long time for any woman to hold a man like me." He laughed and hugged her. "I'm a very fortunate guy," he added. "Wife like you, mother like mine, couple of swell partners. You don't think Hilda's going to make any trouble?"

He asked, digressing, "she's an ambitious little piece, jealous too, I think."

"She should be ambitious," said Irene, "and she's awfully in love with Sam."

"Oh, sure, I just wondered, though. That emergency of Sam's tonight. Very interesting case."

He yawned again. "Lucky we are," he said drowsily, "plenty of patients and among them, thank God, those a dozen worried chronics. Those are the ones who pay the bills."

Irene murmured faintly, "I think I'll go to bed."

She felt very ill, immediately exhausted. Matthew loosened his grasp, and looked at her.

"What's the matter?" he demanded sharply.

She did not answer. The shadows under her lids and her eyelids themselves were blue, as if bruised. He rose, with her in his arms, carried her to the bedroom and put her on the bed. She was not unconscious. He took her pulse and frowned. She said, low, "I'm all right . . . don't fuss."

"Nellie!"

Nellie came at the double. She looked into the bedroom.

"Get me some spirits of ammonia—and step on it."

Nellie brought the bottle, a glass and a teaspoon. The rim of the glass clattered against Irene's teeth, and a little liquid spilled. Presently the color came back in her face. Nellie said, "She's all right."

Buildings Wanted for Ohio Universities

By HELEN KIEL

COLUMBUS — The inter-university council declaring that Ohio's six state-supported universities were "lagging far behind" other states, proposed a $24,772,000 postwar building program.

The council's recommendation, given the Ohio postwar planning commission, noted there had been "an almost complete lack of instructional building" on the campuses since 1929.

And yet, the period since 1929 has seen a persistent and continuing growth in enrollment, said Dr. Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State University and chairman of the council.

"The student population of Ohio State University increased between 1929 and 1940 by nearly one-half," he said. "The other member institutions had comparable increases."

The council said the universities compared favorably in 1929 with similar institutes in Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Indiana, but by 1940 "were lagging far behind."

"No one knows how many students will be coming to these universities when the war is over," the report added. "An increase of 25 per cent over previous peak enrollments would be conservative."

The council proposed that the $24,772,000—which must come from the legislature—be allotted in this proportion:

Ohio State at Columbus, $12,664,000; Ohio University at Athens, $3,355,000; Miami University at Oxford, $3,173,000; Kent State at Kent, $2,401,000; Bowling Green, $2,251,000; Wilberforce at Xenia, $928,000. This, the council said, would be on a basis of $1,000 for each student.

Beyond that, the council recommended that Bowling Green and Wilberforce be granted extra money to bring them up to the standards of the other universities in the state. Seven hundred fifty thousand dollars was proposed for a science building at Bowling Green and $200,000 for new facilities at the Xenia school.

Church Choir Presents Program After Supper

Members and friends of the congregation of the North Street Church of Christ enjoyed an evening of hilarious fun on Thursday when members of the choir entertained, the affair being held as a climax to the series of suppers held during the past several weeks.

Tables covered in white and prettily decorated with red and blue crepe paper streamers, centered with American flags, carrying out the patriotic color scheme, were used in serving.

During the devotional period Miss Christine Switzer, choir director expressed appreciation on behalf of the choir for the help and cooperation received in the purchase of their new robes, songs, scripture by Miss Jane Cummings, prayer by Rev. R. B. Carver and a choir special "Beyond the Hills" made up the devotional program.

Miss Marjorie Swartz aptly portrayed the part of the announcer on the "radio" program which was held following the devotionals. "Ginger Up" sung by the entire group was the opening song. Miss Marcia Highley, then introduced by the announcer evoked much merriment for the guests as Edna Hollace Whopper, the program's sponsor, Miss Christine Switzer acted as master of ceremonies for the original and entertaining program, cleverly introducing each number: Rhythm trio, buttonhole makers from Poison Oak, Nebraska, Mrs. Paul Thornhill, Miss Mary Jane Hyer and Miss Highley, story teller "I am a liar," Miss Hyer, with special parts of the story "The Brutal Miner" taken by Mr. Lyle Sowers, Mrs. Paul Thornhill, Miss Alice Davis, Miss Mary Jenkins, Miss Swartz, Miss Switzer, Reading, "Mrs. Drunker Than You Think," Mrs. Paul Spencer, Piano Solo, "Mrs. Nimble Fingers," Mrs. George Robinson, Jr., who played "Holiday for Strings," Bass solo, Timothy Hay from Straw, Conn., Lyle Sowers, and a number by the Sympathy Orchestra.

The second part of the program included a duet by the Moron Sisters, Miss Swartz and Miss Switzer; "tap" dance, Miss Hilda Lightfoot from Terphischore, Vermont, Mrs. Harriet Jenkins, Piano solo, "Mrs. Never on the Keys," Mrs. R. B. Carver, solo, Miss Frances Sinatra, Miss Jean Spencer; second number by the orchestra and the closing chorus, "Down by the Old Mill Stream." The entire group, both performers and audience sang "School Days" to end the evening's fun and enjoyment, expression of appreciation for the pleasurable affair given to the choir.

The girls and boys beginners' class of the House of Prayer enjoyed a picnic at the roadside park on the CCC highway, when games and the singing of songs was enjoyed for entertainment.

A peanut hunt climaxed the main hilarious pleasures for the tots, which was won by Bobby Mustain and Joe Provost.

Refreshments were served in the shelter house by Mrs. John Provost and Miss Bettie Anderson, teachers of the classes, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Merritt and Mrs. Floyd Roberts.

BPWC Picnic Enjoyed Here on Thursday Eve

The Business and Professional Women's Club assembled at the Roadside Park at the Fairgrounds for a picnic, Thursday evening, and after the serving of the meal of varied and appetizing viands a short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Vernice Deafner.

A discussion was held on the Equal Rights Amendment. It was explained by Mrs. Vernice Deafner, that the National Business and Professional Women's Club had been successful in their efforts to have this amendment incorporated in the republican platform. The amendment provides for submission by Congress to the states of an amendment, to the constitution, providing for equal rights for men and women, and that job opportunity in the post war world be open to men and women alike without discrimination in rate of pay because of sex. The Club also expected to introduce this same plank in the Democratic convention which is now in session.

The treasurer gave a very gratifying report, stating that the club purchased a war bond during the last bond drive.

Four names were voted on for membership in the club, Ruth Cardiff, Iva Lee Davis, Imogene Finley and Jean Everhart.

The membership committee presented two names to be voted on at the next meeting, Mrs. Mae Schleich and Mrs. Pansy Morgan.

Four guests were present with the club members for the meeting, Mrs. Mae Schleich, Mrs. Catherine Hyer, Mrs. Wanda Wilson and Miss Marion Moore.

Ping pong, darts and croquet were enjoyed for entertainment.

Sugar Grove WSCS Meeting Held Thursday

Mrs. Emily Hoppess was a cordial hostess to members of the Sugar Grove WSCS Thursday afternoon when ten members and eight guests assembled for the afternoon meeting, at her home on the Miami-Trace road.

Devotionals were given by Mrs. Florence Bethards after which the president, Mrs. Hoppess conducted a quite lengthy business meeting. Mrs. Pearl Melvin, chairman of the supply department, then read a letter of thanks and appreciation for a package received at the Ethel Harpst Home, Cedar town, Ga.

The members and guests answered the roll call by naming their favorite heroes. The Cubs got even with their Junior Morning League rivals from Cherry Hill by handing them an 11 to 7 beating with Bob Kelly leading the offense by knocking a home run and a triple in three times at bat. Second in support was Joe Rush who slapped out a homer.

The Cubs nicked Orr for nine solid hits while Blair was holding the Cherry Hill boys to five.

Errors and misplays played an important part in the result of the game. The Cubs scored 7 of their runs in the fat fourth inning when they went on a slugging spree while the Cherry Hill defense was wobbling.

Berlin remained silent as to the fate of high German army officers dismissed from top commands in recent weeks, and precautions were set up to prevent contact with the Allies or flight by plane.

Hitler Makes Tirade

Speaking in angry and strident tones in an unheralded early morning broadcast only a few hours after Berlin announced he had escaped death, Hitler declared:

"At an hour in which the German army is waging a very hard struggle, there has appeared in Germany a very small group similar to that in Italy (apparently a reference to the Italian surrender last September 8) which believed that it could thrust a dagger into our back as it did in 1918. But this time they have made a mistake."

That a revolt of widespread proportions may have developed among high German officers was indicated by Hitler's words, although he, as well as Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering and Admiral Karl Doenitz, who followed him on the air, all tried to emphasize the dissatisfaction was concentrated in a small group.

Goering Hits Junkers

Goering, who is topped only by Hitler in the Nazi hierarchy, pointed the finger of retribution directly at the stiff-backed Junkers faction of the German army.

Some London quarters expressed belief the entire affair might be a frame-up to give the Nazis an excuse to purge some German general staff members considered unreliable.

There is considerable

Gen. Nikolaus Von Valkenhorst, commander-in-chief in Norway, issued an order of the day to his troops expressing gratitude for Hitler's escape and pledging to "follow him until victory is won." Significantly, none of the top-drawer Junkers, headed by the deposed field marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt, had yet been heard from.

"There seems no doubt that an army revolt is still on and that a state of civil war exists in the Reich," declared "the Continental Observer" of the British News

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, July 21-AP—The stock market tried to regain part of its equilibrium today, after another early setback, but recoveries failed to hold and steels and motors eventually led a renewal of the slide.

Trends skidded sharply after the opening in relatively lively dealings. Losses, running to more than a point, subsequently were reduced or canceled as peace talk tended to restrain buyers.

HENRY LINK IS INJURED WHEN THUGS ATTACK

Struck Over Head With Club By Pair Bent Upon Robbing Him

Henry Link, Main Street roofing and furnace dealer, had a narrow escape from death at the hands of a pair of youthful thugs while fishing along Rocky Fork Creek at the concrete bridge on U. S. 50, five miles west of Bainbridge, about 4:30 P. M., Thursday.

As result of the attack he sustained a 3 1/2 inch gash across his head from which he lost much blood, and the two youths who allegedly had planned to rob him and steal his automobile are in the Highland County jail where they are being held pending the filing of charges of assault with intent to rob or assault with intent to kill.

The two boys are Clyde Uly, 16, and Donald Porter, 14, both of Columbus. Both are husky youngsters and both said to be known to Columbus police.

They admitted that they intended beating Link into insensibility, rob him and steal his automobile. Link went to Hillsboro Friday to file charges against the pair.

The blow that laid Link's scalp open was struck from behind. He bled so profusely that his clothing was saturated with blood before he could drive into Bainbridge and receive medical and surgical attention at the hands of Dr. Haas.

Link was about to drive off U. S. 50 at the bridge, into the road leading back to Seven Caves and the pair sought to hitch-hike a ride, but was told by Link that he was going to fish. When Link cast his line near the bridge, the boys stood on the bridge for a while then walked down to where he was fishing and engaged him in conversation. Link decided to go down stream a short distance and walked under the concrete bridge with the two boys following. He had reached some high weeds near the bridge when, he related, the Porter boy struck him a heavy blow across the head with a club.

Link was unaware what had happened for a few moments, being badly dazed, but when he laid eyes upon the Porter boy still grasping the club, he suddenly realized that the blow had been deliberate and probably was a prelude to robbery.

"I'll get you for that!" Link said, and started after the boy.

Both of the boys turned and fled, and Link, wearing heavy boots and suffering from the blow as well as loss of blood, could not overtake them.

Going to a nearby farm house Link had the residents call Sheriff Cleo Shaffer, of Highland County, who, with other officers, hurried to the scene.

In the meantime, Link drove into Bainbridge to have his wounds dressed, and returned to the scene, where he had asked nearby residents to watch the boys so they would not escape.

Uly came back to the bridge and made an attempt to escape. He told those who had collected at the scene that the Porter boy had used the club, and the robbery and theft of the car had been planned.

Porter was soon rounded up by Sheriff Shaffer and other officers, and the pair was taken to Hillsboro and placed in the county jail.

Link believes that if the blow had rendered him unconscious, the boys might have rolled him into the creek only a few feet away, after robbing him, and then used his car to escape.

Sheriff W. H. Jenness went to Hillsboro late Thursday in connection with the case.

INCREASED SALES FOR DOG LICENSES

Figures So Far This Year Highest Since 1942

Dogs are on the up grade—at least the licensed canines are. So far this year, 2,625 dog licenses have been sold at the auditor's office in the Court House, Urie Acton, auditor, said today. A year ago, 2,354 licenses were sold.

Two years ago 2,657 licenses were sold, Acton recalled. Another comparative year's sales was in 1941, when only 1,880 licenses were passed out over the counter. Crediting the increase in licenses sold to the fact that more people have money with which to buy dog tags, Acton observed dryly that there "were probably as many dogs before."

WILMINGTON, July 21—George Tate, 26, Negro, formerly of Xenia, was held to the Clinton County grand jury under $1,000 bond for stabbing Ralph Hicks, 18, Calhoun County, Alabama, during mob violence in Wilmington one night two weeks ago when seven Alabama corn detasslers were attacked. HEREFORD MEET AT BEA-MAR HAS CROWD OF 1,000

Type Demonstration Is Held After Barbecued Feast At Noon

Six states and a province of Canada were represented among the nearly 1,000 at the Bea-Mar farm five miles west of Washington C. H. for the Ohio Hereford Association's annual barbecue.

Hereford breeders from all over the state were there for the mounds of steaming hot beef, succulent and juicy as it was removed from the barbecue pit for serving. Just one 1,400 pound steer provided enough meat for the barbecue—meat which simmered for over 12 hours in a sand pit on the Bea-Mar farm lawn, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marting. Marting is a director of the Ohio Association.

Cattle experts and agricultural men from Ohio State University attending the meeting were L. P. McCann, Lawrence Kunkle, Dr. Carl W. Gay, Dean Cunningham, H. C. Ramsower and Prof. J. S. Coffey, Don Chittenden, a representative for the American Hereford Association, and Ross Miller, from the American Hereford Journal, were there too. Herbert Mullendore flew in from Frankfort, Indiana, to attend the affair.

Plenty of Fayette Countians were there for the barbecue also. The Staunton Jolly Rippers 4-H club sold soft drinks to help wash down the barbecue sandwiches, served under a long tent.

After the noon feast, a type demonstration was held in the Marting barns. There the breeders, discussed ways in which they might improve the Hereford breed.

BARN IS BADLY DAMAGED BY FIRE

Firemen Called to East Street Property

A barn owned by Miss Mazie Rowe, East Street, was badly damaged by fire, together with its contents, about 11 o'clock Thursday night.

Firemen soon had the blaze under control but due to the fact that the barn was burning furiously when they arrived, part of the contents was badly damaged and the building was also damaged heavily.

Paul Rumer had his roofing equipment on the second floor of the structure, and the Hook Funeral Home had casket boxes stored on the first floor.

How the fire started could not be determined.

COLLECTION OF TIN SHOWS BIG GAIN IN STATE

Next Collection in City Will Take Place on Saturday, July 29

Announcement that the next collection of tin cans in Washington C. H. will take place Saturday, July 29, brings to light the fact that more than 2,500,000 pounds of tin cans was collected in Ohio during the month of May, according to figures given out by the Ohio State Salvage Committee.

Collection figures for May reached 2,535,000 pounds of tin salvaged in the state for use in war industries. April collections in the state were 1,527,000, and May's collection was more than 1,000,000 pounds greater than for April.

However, need for increased collections was never greater than at the present time, James Leslie Hubbell, state salvage administrator, declared. He quoted a recent communication received in his office from Harcourt Amory, deputy vice-chairman for field operations, WPB, Washington, who said:

"Tin is the only metal in less supply today than before Pearl Harbor and the stockpile is constantly dwindling. For this reason, it is essential that every effort be made to salvage tin-bearing materials which are not collected through ordinary commercial channels. The largest single supply of such material is the used tin can."

In line with this urgent need Ralph H. Stone, director of the Ohio State Council of Defense, has announced acceptance of the part-time services of seven regional representatives of the Scrap Processors Branch, WPB, to aid the salvage committee in its efforts to increase local tin collections.

Plans for the assignment of the WPB representatives were completed by James G. Lewis, executive secretary for Ohio, general salvage branch, WPB, at a meeting in the defense council offices with E. J. Arntine, chief of the scrap processors branch for the region; Harold W. Nichols, chairman of the Ohio State salvage committee; Director Stone, Hubbell and field men from both branches of the organization. Acceleration of local tin collections and improvement in methods of collection, as well as promotion of tin-saving education will be accomplished through co-operation with county and local salvage committees, according to Nichols.

The necessity for saving every tin can coming into the homes of Ohio was stressed by the salvage chairman. Methods of obtaining more complete co-operation of industries using canning products also were discussed at the meeting of the salvage workers.

outskirts of the railway station just west of the town.

In the drive southeast of Caen toward Vimont on the main road to Paris a Nazi anti-tank screen held up the British advance between Emieville and newly captured Frenouville.

The east bank of the Orne now has been cleared for five miles south of Caen while the west bank is rapidly being cleared of a few German stragglers for the same distance.

The Germans appeared to be withdrawing steadily in the western sector of the Caen front with the British taking Monts, 12 miles southwest of Caen and about two miles beyond Noyers in the direction of Villers-Bocage.

The only advance in the American sector was south of the St. Lo-Bayeux road, about four miles east of St. Lo. Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's column drove about 1,500 yards forward. Only local clashes were reported on the rest of the front.

Overnight rains turned secondary roads on the American sector into sticky lanes and mud puddles, restricting operations to sporadic artillery fire.

HEAVY SHOWERS LATE THURSDAY

Mercury Drops to 47 for Low During Night

A large portion of Fayette County, including this city, received heavy showers late Thursday afternoon, that brought temporary relief, to a large extent, from the drought, and did much to liven up the parched corn and other crops.

In this city precipitation was .19 of an inch, and in other areas it was well over a half inch. However, there were some parts of the county that escaped with little or no rain during the day.

Following the rains the temperature took a nose dive from a peak of 87 during the afternoon to 47 during the night, and stood at 54 Friday at 8 A. M.

Light thundershowers occurred in some parts of the county and in a few areas some hail fell.

LEWIS MERRITT TAKES NEW JOB IN NEARBY CITY

Examination for Chief of Police Is Asked by City Manager

Lewis Merritt, 32, for the past two years employed as an extra policeman on the force in Washington C. H., has tendered his resignation to take a position on the police force in Chillicothe, where he starts work at once. He will move there August 1.

His appointment in Chillicothe followed the resignation of Officer Claire Parker there a few days ago.

Merritt has a brother, Fred Merritt, residing in Chillicothe, who is now in the Navy.

City Manager W. L. Stambaugh said Friday that he had not named anyone to succeed Merritt, and is looking for a suitable man.

He also said that he had asked the Civil Service Commission to hold an examination for the position of chief of police here.

Disposition of the Jack Wolfe case some time ago paves the way for naming a new chief. Captain Jesse Ellis has been the acting chief since the former chief was dismissed.

In all probability another list of eligibles for appointment to the force will be asked for in the near future.
